Whether for business or pleasure, Lakedale Communications' High-Speed Internet service is sure to enhance your lifestyle by meeting the ever-increasing need for speed.

No more dial-up connections. High-Speed Internet allows you a constant connection to the Internet.

High-Speed Internet reserves bandwidth for you—and only you—to use! Contrary to cable modem users whose shared bandwidth can slow during peak user time, there is no sharing of bandwidth with High-Speed Internet.

This service utilizes standard phone lines, so you and your family can talk on the phone and surf the Internet at the same time.

With High-Speed Internet service, we offer a quality that is second to none. Our customers have the ability to communicate with their next-door neighbor or someone halfway around the world in just seconds with the touch of a keypad using our High-Speed Internet service.

Lakedale Communications prides itself on high-quality customer service that can assist you with all of your needs.
